

The background features a large, light grey curved shape on the left and a large circular inset on the right. The circular inset shows a blue, 3D perspective view of a grid-like structure, possibly a tunnel or a modern architectural facade, with a spiral pattern leading into the distance.

Harnessing the power of co - practical tips

AES Conference - 16 September 2019

Why involve stakeholders

---

Stakeholder involvement approaches – the similarities

So, what's the difference?

With your ongoing support
we can make this evaluation
a success.

Working together, we will make this evaluation a success.

We'll have help, but the success
of the evaluation is in our hands.

Collaborative evaluation

With your ongoing support
we can make this evaluation
a success.

Participatory evaluation

Working together, we will
make this evaluation a success.

Empowerment evaluation

We'll have help, but the success
of the evaluation is in our hands.

Your experience

With your ongoing support
we can make this evaluation
a success.

Working together, we will
make this evaluation a success.

We'll have help, but the success
of the evaluation is in our hands.

Case examples

Case examples

Lots of time

---

Building dementia friendly communities

Building dementia friendly communities

Design

- Steering Committee and Dementia Advisory Group (DAG) design workshops
- Survey of people with dementia and their carers to support program design

Data collection

- Evaluation toolkit for community grant projects
- Reflective discussions with community project members
- Video case studies

Synthesis and reporting

- Discussions with individual DAG members to interpret findings

Considerations

- Use dementia friendly language and communications e.g. understand individual preferences, talk directly to the person, use short sentences, ask simple & direct questions, minimise noise and distractions, use clear signage, don't be patronising
- Schedule interviews in the morning to avoid afternoon fatigue; send clear information & reminders
- Use communication channels people are most comfortable with (face to face is generally best)

Case examples

Some time

---

A consumer awareness initiative for people with disability

A consumer awareness initiative for people with disability

Design

- Planned workshop structure & questions with consumer researchers
- Tested focus group guides and workshop questions with consumer researchers

Data collection

- Consumer researchers asked questions or observed the workshop
- Consumer researchers observed awareness sessions and supported focus groups

Synthesis and reporting

- Meeting with consumer researchers to test and interpret findings
- Provided with revised findings to review & provide final thoughts

Considerations

- Working with consumer researchers: meet in accessible locations ahead of data collection activities, provide options and choice for involvement, be flexible
- Working with diverse stakeholder groups: use clear and simple language (consider Easy Read), be flexible, ask straightforward questions, don't patronise, use examples, allow ample time to respond, pay attention to non-verbal signs, refer to more detailed guides for working with specific groups

Case examples

Almost no time

A support service for people with disability

A support service for people with disability

Design

- Not involved

Data collection

- Existing consumer stories collected by the organisation

Synthesis and reporting

- Meeting with participants to test and interpret findings

Considerations

- Slow the pace when working with multiple language interpreters and talk to the person not the translator/ support worker
- Don't rely on visuals alone
- Think about who is sitting where in the room
- Make space for everyone to have a voice

Putting it into practice

Over to you

Q&A

Connect

---

Jade Maloney

Partner, Managing Director

Alexandra Lorigan

Consultant

SYDNEY OFFICE

L4 352 Kent Street Sydney

MELBOURNE OFFICE

L9 401 Collins Street
Melbourne

BRISBANE OFFICE

240 Queen Street Brisbane